By outsourcing to an experienced BPO service providers like Maninvest, you can focus on your core business, take advantage of industry best practices and save cost and time.

Our solution –full operations out-sourcing

You can outsource your business operations in China to us if you are not familiar with the operation processes, or cannot afford to spend valuable time and energy in managing those transactions and processes.

We can also help you set up a company in China, that is, a Wholly Owned Foreign Enterprise (WOFE), and take care of your business from incorporation to operation on a contractual basis. During the contractual period, which would normally be 2-3 years, we shall take care of all activities of your company in China including recruitment, legal assistance, finance, accounting, payables, research and development. We would also assist you in developing your own internal working system, organization structure, company internal policies, operation manual and working manual.

In addition, we can also provide assistance to support your operations, such as project management for ad-hoc assignments (e.g. training, trading, sourcing, liaison with suppliers). Ultimately, you can benefit from having a mature and stable business in China at the end of the contract period.

Why Choose Maninvest

With more than 22 years of experience of professional services in serving international clients and other professional firms, we have the capability to deliver maximum value in BPO services tailored-made to your specific strategic goals.
